Competitions are often advertised by the names of the senior rounds (which are sometimes even shortened, e.g. '1440 Rounds'). At these competitions a junior would usually shoot the age-appropriate equivalent round, as indicated by the highlights in the table, but please check with the organisers if it is not clear from the entry form whether junior rounds are available.

WA 720 rounds may be used to seed for Head to Head matches. The 50m round is for compounds and is normally shot on a target face with scoring rings for scores of 6 and greater, with one target face per archer.

- *Key:
- GMB Grand Master Bowman (only achievable at Record Status competitions; if you're reaching these scores then you probably know how to claim your classification, but don't forget to email your score, bowstyle and the competition where you shot the score to our Records Officer on recordsofficer@nortonarchers.co.uk for the club records, too!)
 - MB Master Bowman (only achievable at Record Status competitions; if you're reaching these scores then you probably know how to claim your classification, but don't forget to email your score, bowstyle and the competition where you shot the score to our Records Officer on recordsofficer@nortonarchers.co.uk for the club records, too!)
 - JMB Junior Master Bowman (only achievable at Record Status competitions; if you're reaching these scores then you probably know how to claim your classification, but don't forget to email your score, bowstyle and the competition where you shot the score to our Records Officer on recordsofficer@nortonarchers.co.uk for the club records, too!)
 - B Bowman (achievable at all competitions and at club sessions when shooting a scored round; please submit your score, bowstyle and whether you shot the round in competition by email to our Records Officer on recordsofficer@nortonarchers.co.uk, and once you have three scores of this level or higher then you will have achieved the Bowman classification! You can even buy yourself a little green badge!)
 - JB Junior Bowman (achievable at all competitions and at club sessions when shooting a scored round; please submit your score, bowstyle and whether you shot the round in competition by email to our Records Officer on recordsofficer@nortonarchers.co.uk, and once you have three scores of this level or higher then you will have achieved the Junior Bowman classification! You can even buy yourself a little black badge!)

An indication is given of the age and sex of archers who would generally shoot each round in a competition (where applicable; some rounds such as the American would be shot by all archers). Archers may however request to shoot other rounds with an equivalent number of arrows (e.g. a Hereford instead of a York, or vice-versa) if there is space for them to do so; they may not be eligible for a medal but they would still be eligible for classifications and County Records! :) And of course you can shoot any round you wish at a club session :)
